

This "Comparing Objects" worksheet builds on the abilities of preschool children to compare and provide early mathematical thinking experiences for preschool children.

The question "Which object is heavier?", allows them to understand that weight is the best measurement to make that comparison.

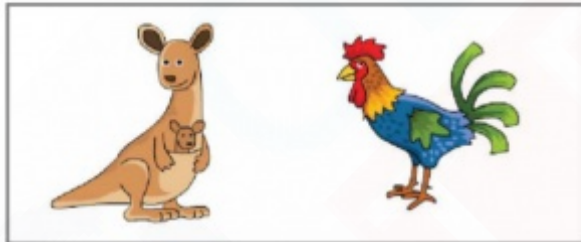

Direction: Look at the pairs of objects below. Circle the object that is heavier than the other.

This "Comparing Objects" worksheet builds on the abilities of preschool children to compare and provide early mathematical thinking experiences for preschool children.

The question "Which object is heavier?", allows them to understand that weight is the best measurement to make that comparison.

Direction: Look at the pairs of objects below. Circle the object that is heavier than the other.

This "Comparing Objects" worksheet builds on the abilities of preschool children to compare and provide early mathematical thinking experiences for preschool children.

The question "Which object is heavier?", allows them to understand that weight is the best measurement to make that comparison.

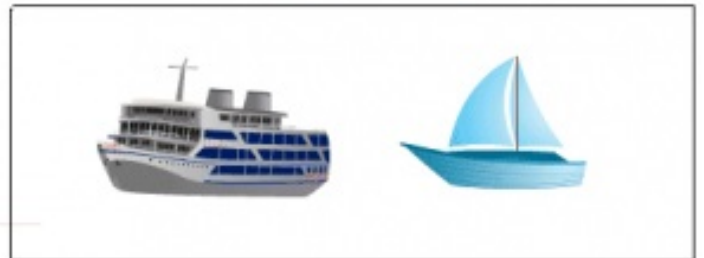

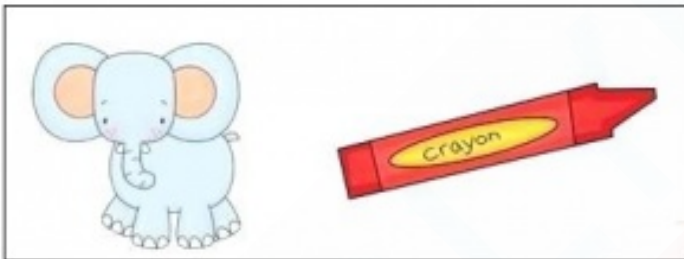

Direction: Look at the pairs of objects below. Circle the object that is heavier than the other.

This "Comparing Objects" worksheet builds on the abilities of preschool children to compare and provide early mathematical thinking experiences for preschool children.

The question "Which object is heavier?", allows them to understand that weight is the best measurement to make that comparison.

Direction: Look at the pairs of objects below. Circle the object that is heavier than the other.

This "Comparing Objects" worksheet builds on the abilities of preschool children to compare and provide early mathematical thinking experiences for preschool children.

The question "Which object is heavier?", allows them to understand that weight is the best measurement to make that comparison.

Direction: Look at the pairs of objects below. Circle the object that is heavier than the other.

